Aloha Saint Louis School Parents and Guardians,

This week was a short one for me at Saint Louis School. By the time you read this letter, I will probably be in Saint Louis, Missouri meeting with the leaders of all the Marianist schools in the United States. Each year we gather together in Saint Louis, Missouri to share our ideas and to ensure the success of our schools across the nation. Most importantly, we will focus on the Marianist mission and our desire to continue instilling in our Saint Louis School Ohana the Characteristics of a Marianist Education.

Please enjoy these pictures below and know that I will be praying for all of you when I am in Missouri. I’ll also be hoping that we perform well at this week’s ILH Championship football game. Go Crusaders!

Memor et Fidelis,

Dr. Glenn Medeiros
Saint Louis School
Head of School
One of our 5th grade parents graciously offers her time to show our boys how DNA is extracted from living organisms.

She has her Masters degree in Biology and has done extensive lab work in the field of genetics involving plants.
Competition took place this week on our football field.

Even dodge ball was played in our gym.

Now that’s what you call proper form!
Our Japanese language students take time from their schedules periodically to clean the monument created in memory of the students and teachers from Japan who died on the Ehime Maru several years ago. In the hands of one student are the paper cranes they later placed on the monument once the wilted flowers were removed.

Students from our sister school Sacred Hearts Academy show their support at the Crusader Pa’ina.
Our Hawaiian Studies program shines with performances from our Saint Louis School students.

Kumu Keli‘i always does a fantastic job of preparing our young men for their performances.
The SLS Color Guard poses with Ms. Oahu Filipina at the Annual Pillars of Bangui Hawaii Ceremony.

Our teachers and students continue to pray each morning. Have a great weekend!
