Aloha Saint Louis School Parents and Guardians,

Homecoming week starts tomorrow. During that time much of our focus will be on our students who will take part in various activities including games, contests, and so much more. Our homecoming will culminate at Aloha Stadium where we play football against the Warriors of Kamehameha School this Saturday. Until that time comes, this week’s e-newsletter on the other hand is centered on another group of unsung heroes in our Saint Louis School ohana who give of their precious time working in the background to help make our school the very special place it is.

Enjoy these pictures below of our Crusader ohana and let’s show our Crusader pride this Homecoming week!

Here administrators meet to define our curriculum in preparation for the implementation of computer assisted instruction.

Lt. Col. Green, Commander of the Saint Louis School 77th squadron donates his time to provide our Civil Air Patrol cadets the opportunity to learn to fly in gliders on the weekends.
Our teachers meet each Friday afternoon in individual departments as seen here, in clusters (combined departments), and as an entire faculty.

Each Friday morning, our elementary school teachers share in professional development with Mr. Pa’ekukui and Mr. Casupang.
Board members, graduates, and more often meet to celebrate special moments and also raise funds for our school.

1950 graduate Ray Wong gives of his time and talents each school year when flower arrangements are needed.

Our faculty and staff work behind the scenes, but they also know how to celebrate as seen here!
