Aloha Saint Louis School Parents and Guardians,

Often you will find me around campus taking pictures of our students, faculty and staff with my cellular phone. One of the reasons I’ve always enjoyed taking and looking at pictures is because they often capture special moments in time that can be passed on to family members, friends, and more for years to come.

Because I was off campus this week at an accreditation visit at Kamehameha Schools, Kapalama, I’d like to share with you pictures of our incredible faculty and staff. I actually have enough pictures of our faculty and staff to create a twenty-page newsletter, but I will limit those pictures this week to the standard amount I typically use keeping in mind that many of you do not have the time to read a twenty-page newsletter.

Please take some time to look at the pictures below and you will see the wonderful family spirit shared by our faculty, staff, and administrators here at Saint Louis School. Have a great weekend!

Teachers Mr. Arista and Kumu Keli'i provided “chicken skin” moments at our Drama Gala.

Mrs. Tauaese amazed everyone at the ACCE recently with her ability to communicate using sign language.
Mr. Almodova and Ms. Paiaina showed their creativity this school year during Halloween.

This picture of Mr. Jenkins and Mr. Los Banos goes back in time a little. In particular, see Mr. Abregano as he displays his innate ability to photobomb pictures just in time.

Our Business Office personnel are fantastic!
Mrs. Huh, our ESL teacher, sure makes a great Cat Woman!

Here Mrs. Vegas is working behind the scenes to be sure our Crusaders shine!
Here teachers take part in various games during one of our professional development sessions earlier this school year.

This picture certainly was unstaged, but it is one of my favorites taken this school year.
